Do you want a global career in Procurement that changes how Novo Nordisk drives business?

Begin the journey of a lifetime in September 2015

Novo Nordisk's Global Procurement Graduate Programme is a great platform for launching a life-changing career. As a global pharmaceutical company and the world leader in diabetes care we give you the opportunity to use your recently-acquired master's degree to make a difference. The Procurement organisation manages multiple billions of spend every year across the value chain – as a Global Procurement Graduate you will have the opportunity to drive procurement performance across the business.

Start your career climb

Our Global Procurement Graduate Programme is designed to provide comprehensive knowledge of the Novo Nordisk Procurement value chain and a solid understanding of our business. The programme will develop your skills within category management, supplier strategies, negotiation, sourcing processes, procurement systems and project- and change management. You will develop through your job responsibilities, training and access to senior mentors. You must be ready for a very steep learning curve.

Scope of the programme

The Global Procurement Graduate Programme is a 2-year journey consisting of four 6-months rotations:

- 3 rotations in our Corporate Headquarters in Denmark
- 1 rotation in one of our international affiliates or production sites

Global career opportunities

After successfully completing the programme, and having gained a strong network across the organisations, you will be equipped with the skills to embark on your career at Novo Nordisk with a permanent position within Procurement and Sourcing. While you could be based in Denmark, your broad network and international experience from the programme will also enable global career opportunities.

Am I a qualified candidate?

You must hold a master's degree in a relevant field, for example within Finance, Economics, Business Administration, Supply Chain Management or Engineering and have finished at the top of your class. You should have no more than 1 year of work experience since finishing your studies.
